The earthquake on Thursday, October 1 at 7:42 A.M. came as all earthquakes occur-unexpectedly. Students were arriving at school, some were on campus, most teachers were still checking in at the office and a few students and teachers were settled into their classrooms. For most Monroe Students this was their first experience of what a "big shaker" feels like-seniors were only toddlers when the February 9, 1971 earthquake occurred in Sylmar. 11th graders were infants and most 10th graders were not even born.

On that Thursday, so soon after school began, we witnessed the ground shaking, trees swaying and windows rattling. Some of us hugged each other, some stood still in their tracks, and in a short time we all proceeded to the football field as we were trained to do so many times in practiced drills.

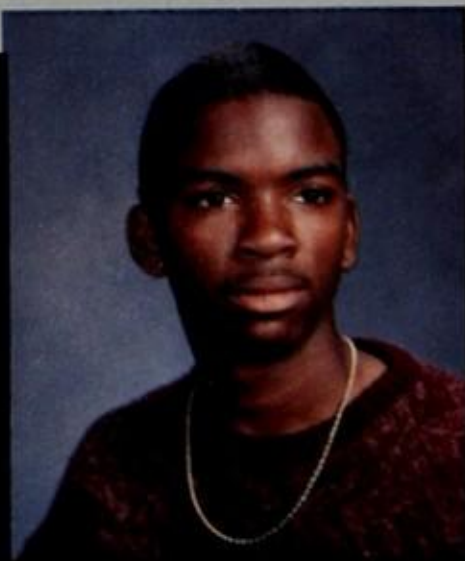

Days later we were all still talking about our experiences. "Where were you?" became the popular question.

Entering the student parking lot in the mornings, during lunch time, or immediately after school is quite an adventure. If you attempt this you are in for an unforgettable treat. The screeching of tires, the revving of engines, the various drag races in addition to the booming of stereos are only a few of the licensed drivers' activities in the lot. Trying to find a spot is a different story all its own. Students take lap after lap to locate a spot near their friends, as well as a spot which is maneuverable to quickly remove oneself at 3:05. If and when you decide to enter into this ravenous jungle, wear your seat belt and be prepared to enter Monroe's Twilight Zone.

After patiently awaiting to be seniors, we received letters in the mail explaining the lunch pass procedures to us. We were to arrive at registration with our parents, wait outside A-10 for our meeting with Mr. Turner, and alas, we were eligible for a Senior lunch pass. Everyday, seniors from all over the school hurry to the parking lot, hoping to be the first to the fast food of their choice. As the 5th period tardy bell rings, hundreds of seniors sit relieved in their classes, feeling the accomplishment of not being caught in the tardy sweep-with their lunch pass ready to be used again for the next day.

What is campus beautification? It seems to be a very popular club with students. This is true because of the easy requirements. You can have any grade point average, you don't need any references, and you can be any age. The only requirement is that you must be tardy. That's it. Then you, along with other lucky individuals will have the prestigious and glorifying job of campus beautification. Not only can you help in making your school clean, and make a fool of yourself, but in edition to all that, you get to wear a gorgeous designer, 100% pure plastic smock, so all your friends can see you. This can be all yours for free. All you have to do is be tardy, and welcome to the club!

COUNTDOWN TO GRADUATION

10. Portraits at Alfred and Fabris. What a pain! We usually got our notices two days in advance.
9. September school starts. The last year at Monroe High School.
8. Homecoming. Seeing our friends on the floats.
7. Halloween. The last time to dress up.
6. Senior orders for cap and gown. Remember trying to figure out the size for the cap by using the paper measuring tape?
5. Senior picnic. Fun and activities.
4. Plans for college applications. Harvard? UCLA? CSUN? Valley? It's one of the most important decisions.
3. Senioritis is in the air.
2. Prom. Dresses, tuxedos, limos all combined in a lasting memory.
1. Graduation. The time comes for all the seniors to walk on the stage and finally with a proud sense of feeling, accept their diploma and throw their caps in the air.

A fleeting "MOMENT IN TIME" was captured at the Century Plaza when Monroe High School held its annual senior prom. Young men and women were dressed in elegant, formal attire complementing the elegance of the evening. The prom colors, white and gold, were the catalysts in making the night a truly golden event filled with love and friendship. For those couples who attended, June third of nineteen eighty-eight was "A MOMENT IN TIME" that will last forever.

Monroe Joins East Valley

With the opening of Monroe's sister school Granada Hills and a new arrival, Taft, the West Valley League has grown to such size that Monroe was forced to leave. Being that it is the closest to Sepulveda Blvd., which is the dividing line between the two leagues, it switched into a new league leaving these schools in the West Valley: Birmingham, Canoga Park, Cleveland, Granada Hills, Reseda and Taft (new).
Monroe will join Grant, North Hollywood, Poly, San Fernando and Van Nuys in the East Valley League.

The Monroe's Doctrine first semi-annual Athlete of the Year award will be given out on the night of January 23 at the first semi-annual lettermen's award banquet. The nominations for the award are John Welcome, varsity football; John McAdams, varsity or junior varsity basketball; Jerry Bancroft, bee or cee basketball; Lynn Cochran, bee football; and Bill Elam, cross country. The sports staff of the paper will vote and decide the eventual winner.
The winner will receive a certificate stating that he was chosen athlete of the year, and also a plaque will be put in the trophy showcase in the boys gym.
The five nominees were chosen by the coaches of their separate sports. They were chosen on playing ability, team sportsmanship, and attitude.

BULLETIN!

Photographs, just developed, have cost Monroe its Bee track championship. Results in the sprints boosted San Fernando into third place in last Friday's Valley finals, thereby tying the Tigers with the Vikings. The Tigers are champions by virtue of their dual meet triumph over Monroe.

Tennis Team Builds For The Future

by Natalie Kalustian
Linda Gayton, girls tennis coach at Monroe High School, believes this will be a "building year" for the team, with strong returning players and many new hopefuls expected to form a powerful team which will carry on into future seasons. According to Gayton, many of the players have already improved their serving and net play skills, problems which have plagued the team this year. Gayton said the greatest improvement can be seen in the newer players.

The team lost its first match of the Valley North Tennis League on Tuesday, October 13, at Granada (6-1). However, the team is not discouraged since Granada is considered to be Monroe's toughest competition as well as one of the better teams of the league. Schubert says, "Granada is a really hard team to beat. I feel we've tried our best."

The Monroe Varsity baseball team will have a strong opportunity to make the playoffs this year with nine returning lettermen. Coach Campbell

We have nine returning lettermen. They include 2 year lettermen Brian Eldridge and Ronald Robart. The other returning starters are Alex Chahinian, Joey Marquis, Tom Konkel, Tim Costic, Adam Clark, Mark Bargerstock, Ernesto Echeves, Enrique Gonzalez, and Henry Valdez will all see a lot of playing time, with Mike Enriquez and John Langley also seeing action. The Sum of a Person

ME (hope)
as in a person who'll someday be:
succeeding eventually at making myself free,
wondering, no longer, anxiously, realizing things which, before, I could not see.

MYSELF (perception) as in now sometimes alone in the familiar crows:
thinking and wishing, but never aloud,
attempting not to clear up this pensive cloud;
keeping with a dream that keeps me silently proud.

I (truth)
as in happy in a certain way:
forming real opinions so that I mean just what I say, knowing within that everything will be okay,
reaching all the goals that I set yesterday.

Rainy Midnight

In the rain I roam and wander,
And from above, rolls the thunder.
Tonight the darkness is strong and souled-
I think of you and shed a single tear;
The truth suddenly hits steady and hard.
I'm so far from you now, so far away-
I still love you as much now as then,
Yet in such different ways.
I wish you'd return to find me here
On this secluded road,
But we've been separated for so long.
What are you doing? Where are you now?
Tonight you're on your own path,
Travelling alone, destination
unclear,
In the rain that keep pouring,
purling-
And I tip my chin to the empty sky, falling,
Calling out your name to the lonely night,
And stare ... And wonder ...
While from above, rolls the thunder.

Hold on to Your Dreams

Hold on to your dreams
Don't ever give in.
If you keep trying,
You're going to win.
Hold on to your dreams
Though sometimes it's hard-
Just hold your head up
And reach for the stars.
Hold on to your dreams
Though they seem so far away.
And those dreams will come true
Somehow — Someway.

I hate to think about what happened to us
But it always comes to mind
When you went on with your life
And just left me behind.
You really pulled one over on me
I thought you truly cared,
As I thought about loving you
And all the times we shared.
You would hold me in your arms and
Then recite a song;
I didn't know that you really
Didn't love me all along.
Every time I see you, I cry
Because I can't forget.
A picture of your face,
In my mind is set.
I hope you're happy with your new love
But a picture of me will still remain,
Because forever, you will have Left my heart in pain.
And I hope she satisfies and truly
Loves you,
But just remember —
No one will ever love you
The way I Used to.

Deanna Boyajian

The day is coming, it will soon be here,
The day when we leave our friends so dear.

The people we never really met
Are becoming the faces we'll never forget.

The teachers we thought we'd always hate
The ones who were always a bit irate,
Are actually fascinating, fun, and great.

The tardy sweeps, garbage heaps, hall passes,
And boring classes will soon be part of the past.
How did the time go by so fast?

This day has departed, and so has time-
But the memories of High School will always be mine.

Sheryl Binstein

THE CURSE OF THE ENGLISH TEACHERS

I think that I have never known
A book as lame as Ethan Frome.

My teachers say it's good for me
But I know that they'll never see

That when I scan across the page
The style just puts me in a rage.

How can someone write like that?
Strange vocab - they must be cracked!

Just what do they expect of me?
Praise Joyce's poem about a tree?

"Read ten chapters by tonight."
Now you see that we must fight

The literature they force on us
Which we MUST read without a fuss.

Ask me to read and I will sing,
"Give me a novel by Stephen King!"

Of course you know they'd say it's dumb
Because reading that would be fun.

Wade Wisinski

You see him from across the way
Tongue-tied — you don't know what to say.
Walk right up to take a chance
Scared and daring . . . it's for romance.

For a long time we've been a pair
The special times and feelings we share,
They'll never be forgotten or lost-
We'll keep them forever . . . at all cost!

I think about you when we're apart,
I keep your picture in my heart.
I love you more every day-
I hope this love won't drift away.

Michelle Fuller

from a Ghost Inside of Me

These hurried words From my fingertips
But my mind, my soul
Is not in control ...
None but a ghost inside of me.

A light goes on
From under my doorway
I know not of imagination
"O, Apparition, from a world unknown, speak to me!"
Or could it be ...
Nothing more than the ghost inside of me.

But as the clock draws nearer
To the midnight mark,
I feel suddenly a presence,
And my head, it turns so swiftly-
And then just as quickly (as it came),
I am alone in the dark.
Alone in the dark with only ...
This ghost from inside of me.

Janel Watkins

There are people ...

There are people who try hard for a day,
And they are good.
There are people who try hard for a year,
And they are better.
There are people who try hard for many years,
And they are very good.
But some people try hard throughout their whole lives,
And they are really indispensable.

Can't Take It With You, II
(With apologies to Kaufman & Hart)

Meridith, fifteen, sings opera, bakes bread,
And remembers by heart everything that she's read.
She can do anything, as her mother
once said
In the house on Clidey Lane.

Colleen, seventeen, has little time or concern
For dusting or vacuuming when it's her turn,
But she's the smartest and is always the quickest to learn
In the house on Clidey Lane.

Rigley, nineteen, has invented something new-
And just last week he perfected the kazoo-
But meanwhile he's working on
"Super-Stick-Glue"
In the house on Clidey Lane.

Jefferson, twenty-four, is a business man
Who does for his siblings the best that he can
But he's fallen in love and is embarrassed by the clan
In the house on Clidey Lane.

Jefferson's girl is as rich as can be
And her father is dubious: he just cannot see
How the Therancleave family could live with such glee
In the house on Clidey Lane.

"Their parents live in Tahiti, and what's more
Is that the people are even stranger
next door.
And the huge, musty rooms are cluttered galore
In the house on Clidey Lane.

"Oh, Daddy!" Jefferson's girl did cry,
"Can't you see that those are all good reasons why
My dear love needs such a woman
as I
In the house on Clidey Lane?"

Although the Therancleave household, so oddly presented,
Was still just a bit by her father resented,
He understood her feeling and eventually relented
To the house on Clidey Lane.

Jennifer Quinton

So Long

Will you remember me after we are through?
Think of all the times we've been together and all the things
We've done . . . So long ago.
It hurts to accept that it will all be over so soon,
After it's taken so long . . .
So long to find each other,
So long to build our love.
Will you remember me
After our time has passed?
Or will I be just another face in the yearbook-
Remembered as just one of your friends?
If this is what I will have to face,
Then I must say-So long.

Jill Witzman

Sandbox Dreams

Remember the days
Of sandbox dreams?
Reality it was
Or so it seemed.
Smiling faces,
Oblivious to time.
Each day an adventure
With a treasure to find.
Flying kites in the park.
Sandcastles at the beach.
Nothing unaccomplished.
No goals out of reach.
We'd captured our world.
We thought all tales were told,
But as kids we were unaware
We'd have to grow old.

Love to Friendship

After the love has ended,
Our memories tucked in a drawer,
Why do you seem to act as though
We've never met before?

We were so close some years ago
But now we're far apart.
I've gotten over my love for you
But how we ignore each other breaks my heart.

Why can't ex-loves become close friends?
To be there through good times and bad?
I wish we could have been like that After everything we had.

Well, I guess now I've tried everything,
There's nothing more I can do.
If you ever decide you need a friend,
I'm STILL waiting here for you.

ORGANIZATIONS

CHILD CARE

One of the most fun classes at Monroe is Child Care. Under the supervision of Mrs. Stanton, students earn credit for taking care of preschool age children. The students teach the kids how to write, paint and count. The students are also in charge of making a good lunch for the little tykes. Just ask any of the "teachers" and they'll tell you, "It's a great experience!"

COMPUTER CLUB

The Computer Club is a dedicated group of programmers who meet in the morning before school. Sponsor John Novak and the members exchange program ideas and try out the newest computer software.

MATH CLUB

The Math Club is a group of students who are interested in learning more about the subject. This year they have a new sponsor, Mrs. King. The club enters exciting competitions with other schools in the district.

R.O.T.C.

"It's not just a class, it's an adventure"

KNIGHTS AND LADIES

MUSICAL THEATER

Offering a mixture of song and dance the Musical Theater gives its members a chance to show off their entertainment skills. At the end of each year they put on a major production enjoyed by the entire student body.

DOCTRINE

EDITORS

The Monroe Doctrine is the school's newspaper and made up of a hard working, talented staff advised by Gregg Solkovits. This year the major stories were the '87 Earthquake and the repaving of the school's parking lots. Special thanks to Editor-in-Chief Cindy Holsey and congrats to Sean Adamek and Jill Witzman for placing in the LAUSD "On The Spot Writing Contest."

STUDENT COUNCIL

SPRING

Student Council is a spirited and active group. They are responsible for noontime activities and dances. The students earn 5 units of social studies credit and make life at Monroe more exciting! It is worth while for any student interested.

CHINESE CLUB

The Chinese Club is an international organization. They plan trips and activities with other schools to promote fellowship. They discuss problems and affairs in the oriental culture.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club, sponsored by Mrs. Hirschl, is going strong. In its second year, with the help of club president, Monica Kim, this organization gets a chance to experience French culture and lifestyles.

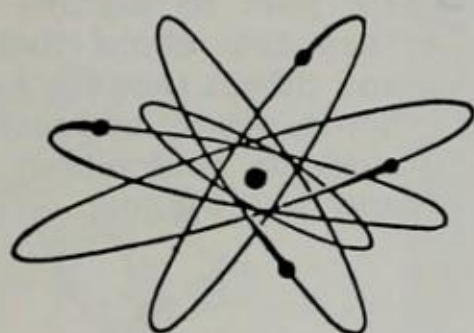

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mr. Newman, has really picked up this year. The club is for students who are interested in learning more about our Southern neighbors. They also go on field trips to such places as Olvera Street.

FUTURE ENGINEERS OF AMERICA

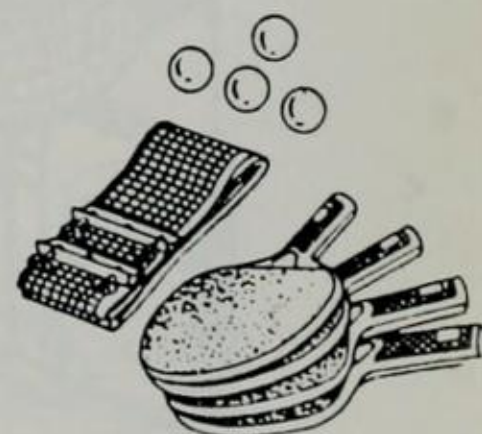

Future Engineers of America was established in October 1985. This class is especially for Monroe students interested in pursuing careers as engineers of science. They discuss and analyze all types of new discoveries.

NITTAKU

This is the first year for the Monroe Nittaku Club. Sponsored by Mr. Bassi, this club meets at lunch for an exciting game of what else? ... ping pong. Pres. Ron Franco feels there's no better way to relax.

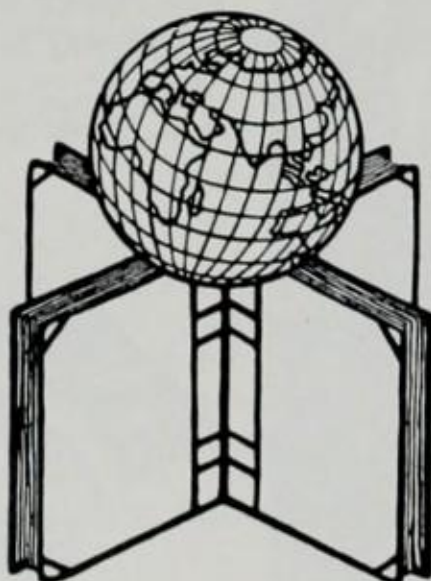

NEW LIFE

New Life is a club where students are able to discuss their lives. They talk about their problems and things that are happening at home, school and society. It helps students understand themselves and their friends.

Junior Statesmen of America is a national club which includes high schools around the country. Our chapter was started only last year with the help of Danielle Egan and the clubs sponsor Gregg Solkovits. This club is similar to a debating team. They hold debates on many current issues happening in our society.

J.S.A.

PLAY PRODUCTION

Play Production allows students a chance to direct and act in a wide variety of plays. With the help of Mr. Wright the students usually put the plays on 3 or 4 times a day. These plays are looked forward to by all the students.

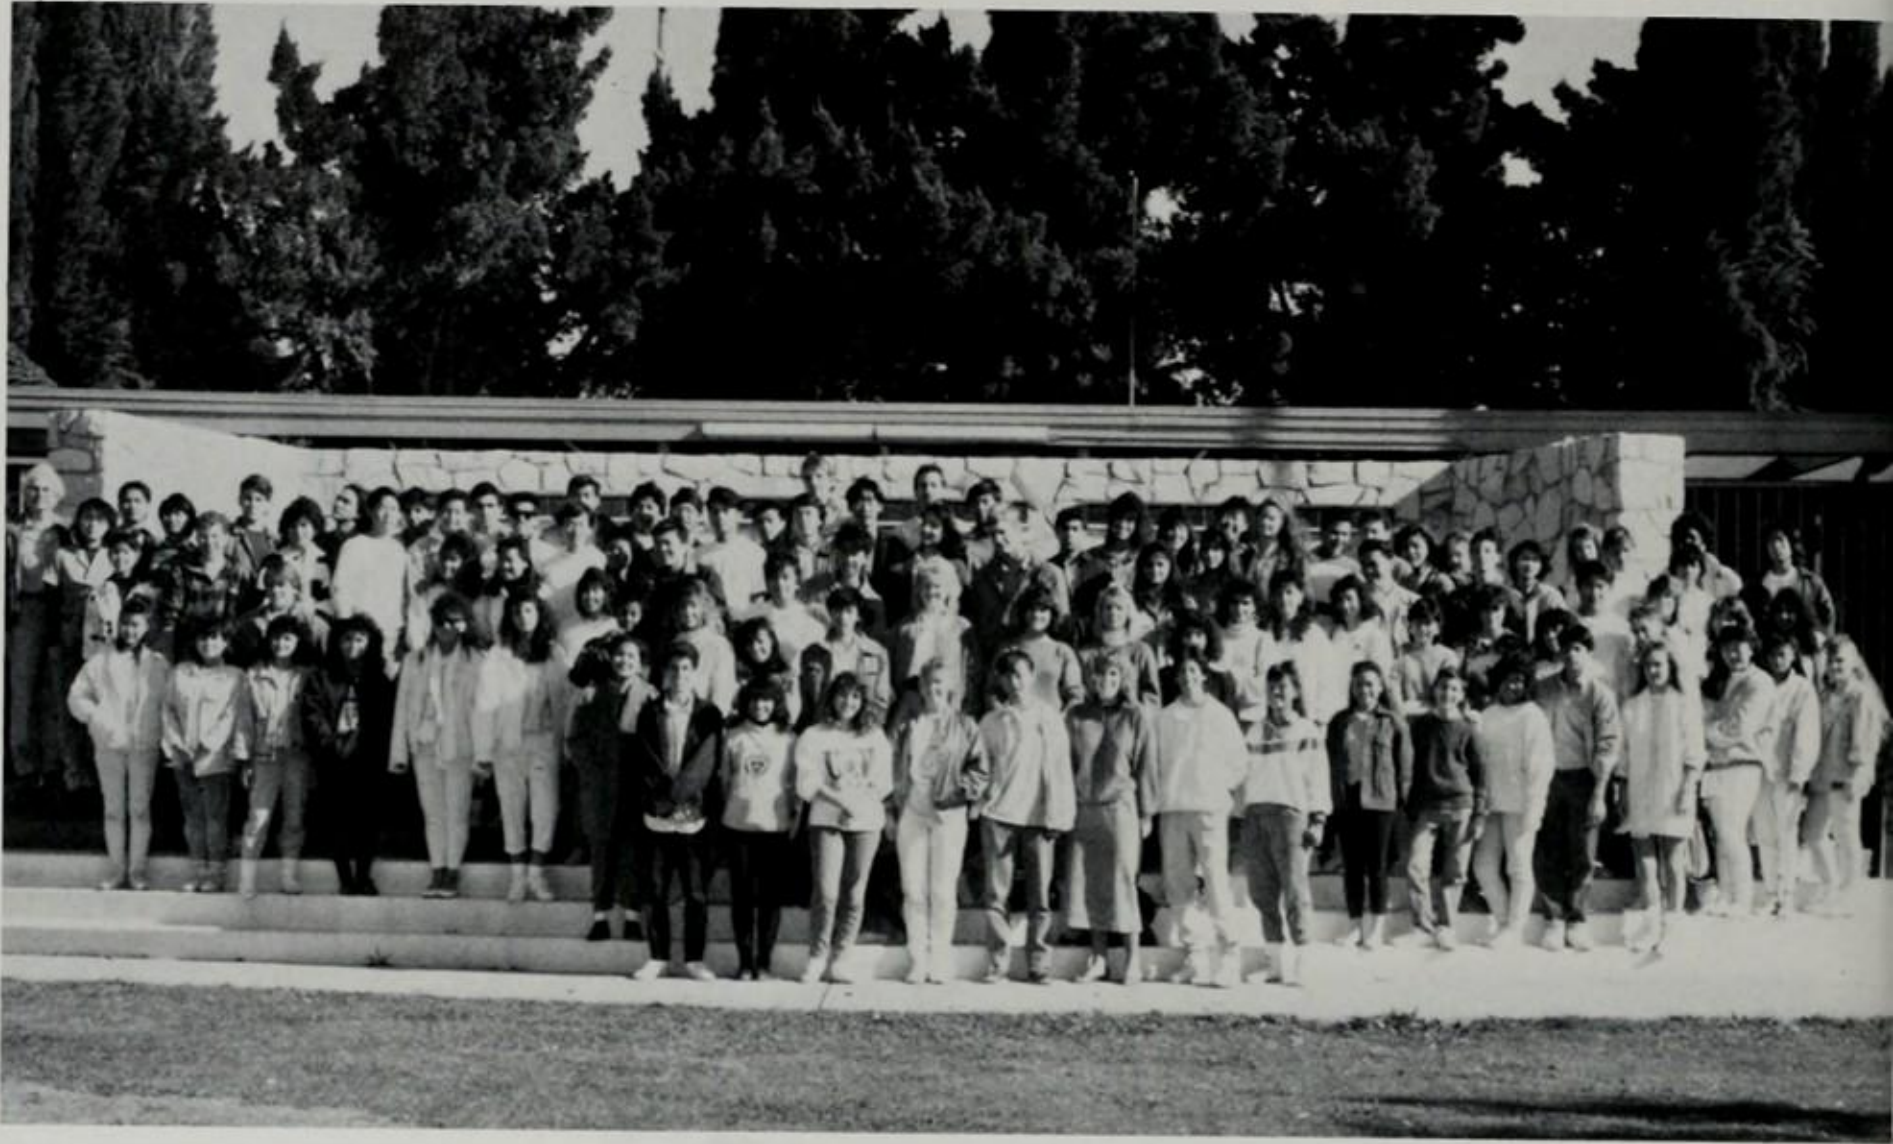

STAGE CREW

The stage crew is responsible for all of the maintenance and operation of the stage in Odin's Hall. They do the lighting and props for all the plays and assemblies. If it were not for them the show could not go on!

C.S.F.

C.S.F. aka the California Scholarship Federation is a state wide honor society. Members of CSF must earn three A's and one B on the 20 week report card. They are also required to do committee work and help other students in tutoring. Seniors who have been in CSF for 4 semesters are recognized with gold seals on their diplomas and those with 6 semesters are honored by wearing a gold sash and tassles. The CSF looks great on college applications and members are also eligible for scholarships.

ACADEMIC DECATHLON

The academic decathlon is a team of students who work very hard in preparation for the big moment ... competition with the other schools in the district. This year with new coach, Jack Pool the team placed in the top 25 out of approximately 50 schools. Next year Monroe expects to do even better. Team members Al Gozales, Gabby Del Valle, Monica Kim and team capt., Ben Kim all received honors at the awards banquet.

EXPLORERS CLUB

The explorers Club, which offers students an opportunity to enjoy the great outdoors, proves that learning can be fun. This first year club, sponsored by Mrs. Wong and Mr. Miller gives students a chance to relate classroom knowledge to real life.

SPEECH AND DEBATE

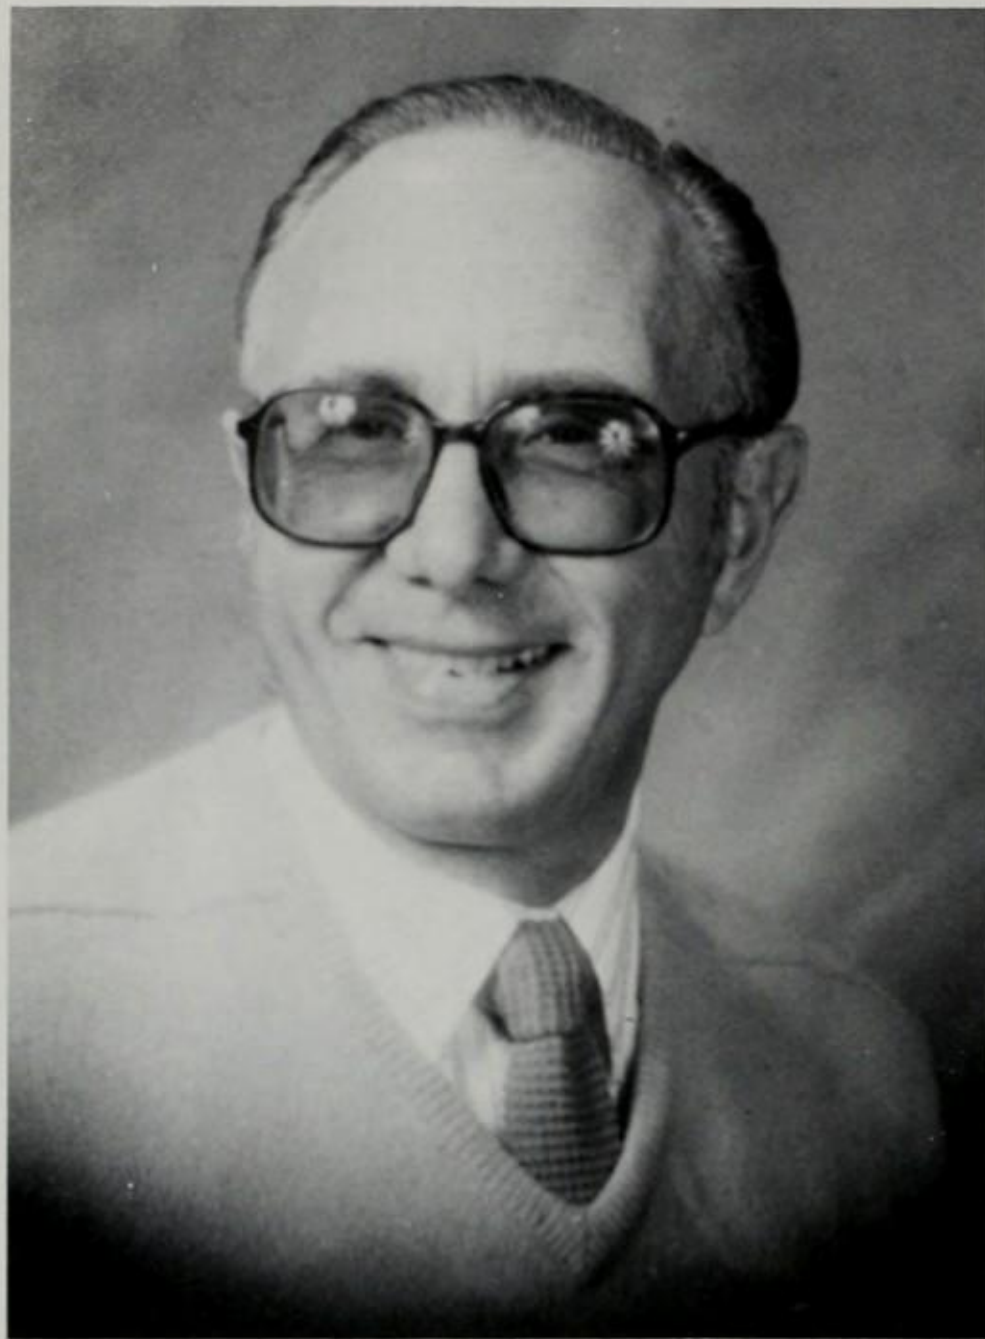

The speech and debate club at Monroe is fairly new but already it has a large group of students. Mrs. English teaches students to write and give effective speeches. The debates deal with the current social and political problems we are faced with each day.

A truly creative and intelligent person.

FACULTY

ADMINISTRATION

Dr. John Anderson
Principal

Dear Vikings:

As we transition through the 1987-88 school year, we will see a variety of activities take place involving our students and the faculty. I would hope that every Monroe student recognizes that the three years of high school are, for most, magic years that they never forget. Participating on an athletic team; being a member or officer of an on-campus club; participating in special programs like our R.O.T.C., our Drill Team, or the Academic Decathlon Team; going to football games; being part of Senior activities are all experiences that present themselves once in a lifetime. I would hope that in the final months of your Senior year, you can look back over many moments that you will cherish and value as you move into adulthood.

Our Valhalla Yearbook is a record of these experiences. Its value to you many years from now will be priceless as you skip through the pages and see the faces of fellow students, favorite teachers, and once-close friends who have become fond memories of your past.

CAFETERIA STAFF

Dear Administration, Faculty, & Supportive Staff,

As everyone knows, you are the reason things at Monroe run so smoothly. You are also one reason the Valhalla comes out so well. We have reason to thank all of you. The administration, for understanding when we requested things on very short notice. The faculty for excusing us from classes, and not getting angry with us, (or, getting angry but still forgiving us). The supportive staff, for helping us track down names, and many other important things. This year's staff consists completely of seniors, and some of us may never have a chance to express our appreciation again. Now is the perfect time to say "Thank You."

Sincere thanks,

Congratulations to Maggie!

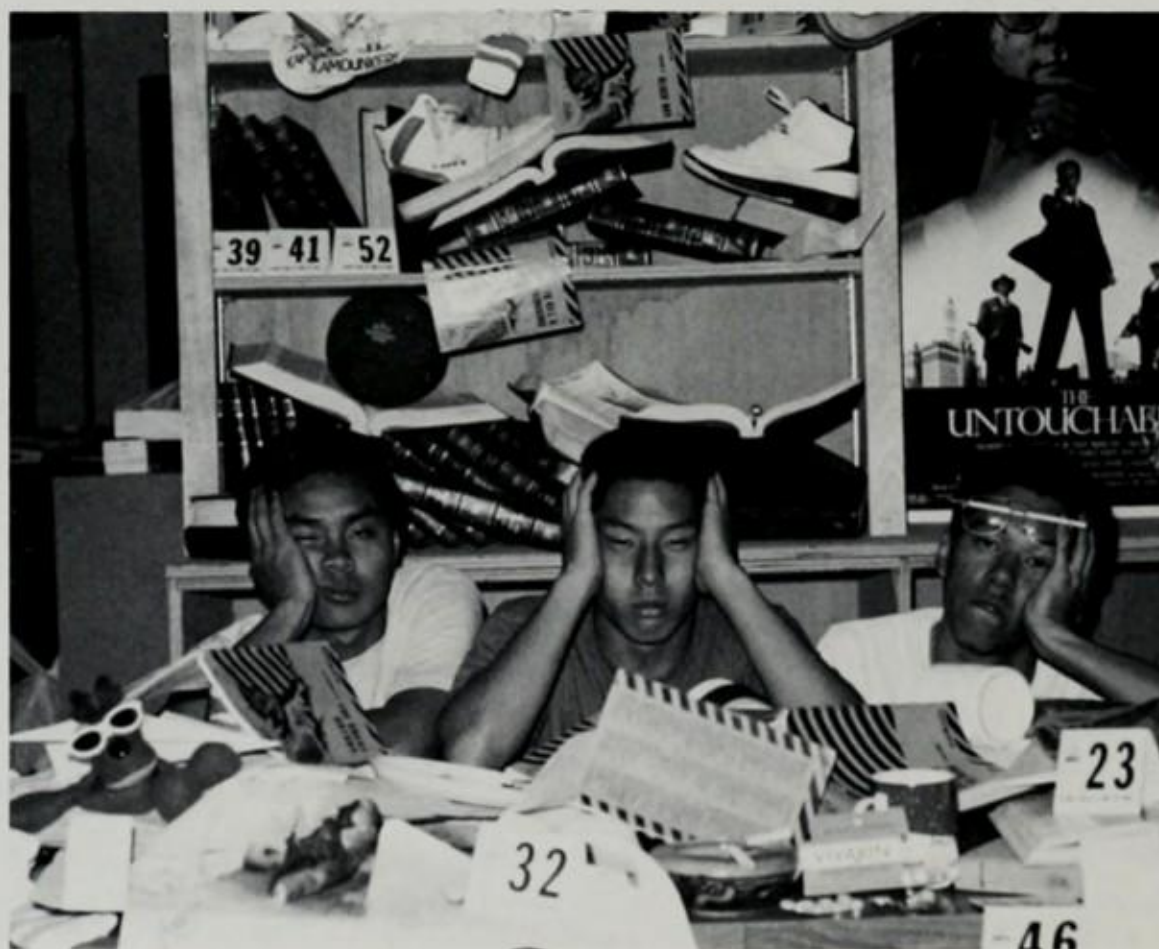

Your high school graduation is a momentous occasion for you. It also marks a very special passage for us. As our first-born graduate from high school, we can't help becoming tearful; it seems like only yesterday that we were taking you to nursery school. We are so proud of you! You are very precious to us and we send you congratulations and our everlasting love.

*Love,
Mom and Dad*
